

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

NOTES AND ABBREVIATIONS.

1. All names in Part 2 are arranged alphabetically, and where there are more than one of the same name they appear according to priority of service.

2. An ★ before a name indicates that the officer attained the rank of Brigadier or Major-General either by regular or brevet commission in the Regular or Volunteer forces.

3. Following the name of each officer will be found, 1st, the State or Country where born, and, 2d, the State from which originally appointed; but when this appears only once it indicates the State whence appointed, the place of birth not being known.

4. Cadet M A in bold face type indicates that the officer graduated at the United States Military Academy; the adjoining date when he entered that institution; the figure in parenthesis his standing in the graduating class, and his first appointment the date of his graduation. After 1800 the years are expressed by the last two figures—thus, 1801, 01; 1856, 56, etc.

5. All data relating to appointments or commissions has been obtained from original records of the War Department, supplemented from other authentic sources, or supplied by living officers or the families of those deceased.

6. No record is herein given of appointments or commissions that were not accepted. Such as were declined, revoked or cancelled, and under which no service was rendered, have been omitted.

7. All commissions, appointments, promotions, casualties, etc., subsequent to September 29, 1889, have been added or revised up to the time each page was put in type.

8. A work of this dimension, covering so long a period, although compiled and revised with the utmost care, will doubtless contain some errors or omissions, and the editor will take it kindly to be informed of any that may be discovered.

PREFACE.

From the close of the Revolutionary War to September, 1789, there was practically no United States Army. A regiment of infantry and a battalion of artillery, in all about 700 officers and men, were retained at the close of the war to guard public stores and property and to occupy posts vacated by the British on the northwest boundaries of the United States. By act of Congress of June 3, 1784, it was resolved, "As it appears absolutely necessary to have 700 non-commissioned officers and men properly officered, it is recommended to the following States as most convenient to the posts shortly to be vacated by the British to furnish from their militia: Connecticut, 165; New York, 165; New Jersey, 110; Pennsylvania, 200, to serve 12 months, unless sooner discharged."

The troops thus provided for were formed into a regiment, consisting of 8 companies of infantry and 2 companies of artillery, under the command of Lieut.-Col. Josiah Harmar.

By subsequent legislation slight changes were made in the number and organization of the troops, and the re-enlistment of the 700 men engaged under the resolution of April 12, 1785, was authorized by Congress October 3, 1787. This force, then consisting of a battalion (4 companies) of artillery and a regiment (8 companies) of infantry, was, by the act of September 29, 1789, "recognized to be the establishment for the troops in the service of the United States."

No appointments or commissions had been issued by the General Government, the officers holding their appointments from the States which had furnished the quota. The officers retained in service were all commissioned as of the United States Army from September 29, 1789.

In this work, therefore, service prior to September 29, 1789, is only referred to as in the Revolutionary or Continental army, and date of rank, etc., therein is not stated, as there are no complete records extant, so far as known, that could supply the data.

Having been an employé in the office of the Adjutant-General of the Army during the past 24 years, I became thoroughly familiar with all the records pertaining to appointments, commissions and the service of officers of the army, and obtained the permission in 1873 of Gen. E. D. Townsend, then Adjutant-General of the Army, to engage in compiling this work. The privilege thus accorded me was courteously extended by his successor, Gen. R. C. Drum, to whom I am deeply indebted for unlimited access to any and all records in his department.

Everything relating to the appointment of officers was destroyed by the burning of the War Department, November 9, 1800, and again partially by the British, in 1814. It therefore became necessary, in order to supply the missing links, to search the Executive journals of the United States Senate, pay accounts in the Treasury Department, old manuscript registers in the possession of families or descendants of deceased officers, etc. In brief, neither labor nor expense has been spared in securing the most reliable information possible, and a slight conception of the magnitude of the task may be gathered from the fact that I have diligently applied myself, when not engaged in official duties, for 17 years in the effort to produce this compilation, in the hope that it may be a standard and reliable work of reference.

F. B. HEITMAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., 1890.

Commanders U. S. A.

* From the date of General Washington's death Dec. 14, 1799, to June 1, 1821, when General Brown assumed command, there was no general officer charged with the immediate command of the army. During this period the President, through the War Department, had command of the army. In the above list, however, the senior officer of the army, covering that period, is here shown.

† General Scott left for Mexico Nov. 24, 1846, and during his absence in that country had no control of the army not included within his territory. Upon his return in 1848, he was assigned to the command of the Eastern Division, U. S. A. G. O., Aug. 31, 1848. He resumed command of the army May 11, 1849, in pursuance of U. S. A. G. O., May 10, 1849.

LEGION.

THE LEGION OF THE UNITED STATES.

March 5, 1792, to Nov. 1, 1796.

Organized under section 3 of the act of March 5, 1792. Section 2 of the act of March 5, 1792, authorized the raising of 3 additional regiments of infantry, a squadron of dragoons, and also directed the completion of the 2 regiments of infantry and the battalion of artillery then in service. Section 3 of the same act provided "That it shall be lawful for the President of the United States to organize the said 5 regiments of infantry and the said corps of horse and artillery, as he shall judge expedient, diminishing the number of corps and adding to another, as shall appear to him proper."

* * * Under the provision of this section, and upon the recommendation of Gen. Henry Knox, the then Secretary of War, President Washington directed the formation of "The Legion of the United States." On April 9, 1792, the President nominated to the Senate 6 Majors for the "proposed 3d and 4th legionary corps," 3 to each; also Surgeons and Surgeons' mates for the "4 proposed legionary corps." On Sept. 4, 1792, Maj.-Gen. Anthony Wayne, then Commander-in-Chief, in General Orders, dated Pittsburg, Pa., announced and prescribed the formation of the Legion of the United States, which was to consist of 4 sub-legions, each sub-legion to be commanded by a Brigadier-General. On Dec. 27, 1792, Congress was informed of the President's action. In the formation of 1st and 2d sub-legions, the 1st infantry became part of the 1st sub-legion and the 2d infantry part of the 2d sub-legion. The legion, however, was not fully completed until the Spring of 1793, when, instead of a Brigadier-General to command a sub-legion (several having declined the appointment of Brigadier-General), the President nominated officers to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel as commanders of the 4 sub-legions.

In the 1st and 2d sub-legions the field officers are shown as beginning with Sept. 4, 1792, and in the 3d and 4th sub-legion date of actual rank is stated.

On Nov. 1, 1796, under the act of May 30, 1796, the President arranged and completed out of the legion 4 regiments of infantry and 2 companies of light dragoons, forming the regiments as far as practicable, so that the infantry of the 1st sub-legion again became the 1st infantry and of the 2d sub-legion the 2d infantry. The infantry of the 3d sub-legion became the 3d infantry, and of the 4th sub-legion the 4th infantry. Officers and soldiers not retained were discharged Nov. 1, 1796, with 6 months' pay and subsistence.

Order showing the formation of "The Legion of the United States."

"In pursuance of the orders of the Secretary of War, I, by virtue of the powers and authority vested in me by the President of the United States, the following shall be the arrangement of the officers of the 4 sub-legions in the Army of the United States:
